About the Author: Michael O. Tunnell teaches children¢ÃÂÂs literature at Brigham Young University and currently serves as chair of the department of teacher education. He has published several professional books, including The Story of Ourselves: Teaching History through Children¢ÃÂÂs Literature (with Richard Ammon), as well as a variety of journal articles about children¢ÃÂÂs books and reading. He also writes for young readers. Some of his titles include The Children of Topaz, Mailing May, Wishing Moon, and Candy Bomber: The Story of the Berlin Airlift¢ÃÂÂs ¢ÃÂÂChocolate Pilot.¢ÃÂÂs book prize. James S. Jacobs began his career happily teaching English in grades 7 through 12. Next he taught at a junior college where, to his dismay, he was assigned to teach a children¢ÃÂÂs literature course. He discovered a new love and life path and returned to graduate school for a degree in children¢ÃÂÂs literature. Since then he has taught it at Brigham Young University. He interrupted his university life to gain experience in an elementary classroom, teaching fourth grade for two years at a U.S. Army school in Germany. His academic writing focuses on Lloyd Alexander, and he has written one picture book for children, Terrell A. Young teaches courses in children on the Board of Directors of the United States Board on Books for Young People (USBBY) and previously served on the International Reading Association Board of Directors from 2009 to 2012. He has been a member of numerous book award committees. He has published many articles and books about reading Association Outstanding Teacher Educator in Reading Award. Gregory Bryan completed his at the University of British Columbia. She is now a member of the Faculty of Education of the University of Manitoba, Canadã, where she taught the literacy courses of the children and the first medium and medium years. Greg was born and grew in Australia and returned home with the greatest possible frequency. His books include To Hell and High Water: Walking through the steps of Henry Lawson in which he has almost 300 miles with his brother in extreme heat when they became the first people to recreate the experiences of Greg's favorite writer, Henry, Henry Lawson, during his 1893 walk in Australia outback. He is currently completing a biography of the illustrator of his favorite images of him, Paul Govern. "About this title" can belong to another edition of the children's books offered.
